Your Comments Can Make A Big Impact On Our Waters

We are getting sick of green water and polluted beaches stinking up our summers – literally! It is especially hard to believe during this time of year, but the important rules that protect our waterways are under attack once again.

Please tell Wisconsin's rule-reviewing committee that you care deeply about our water and that we cannot let anything happen to our critical rules for water quality.

Implementing the Great Lakes Compact

Passing the Great Lakes Compact was the first step in protecting our beautiful Great Lakes. Now the work of implementing the Compact begins.

The first application from anywhere in the United States for Great Lakes water comes from Waukesha (a Milwaukee suburb). Because this is the very first, it is extremely important that it is done right and in a way that protects our unique resource.

Want to know more about Waukesha's application? Next week, the DNR will hold a series of presentations on Waukesha's application and the State's review process.

The meetings start at 5:30pm at the following locations:

- Tuesday, July 26: Waukesha County Technical College, Business Building, Lecture Hall B140 & B130. 800 Main Street, Pewaukee, WI 53072
- Wednesday, July 27: Hart Park, Riverview Room. 7300 Chestnut Street, Wauwatosa, WI 53213
- Thursday, July 28: Sturtevant DNR Service Center. 9531 Rayne Road, Sturtevant, WI 53177
